

*You were a human being with your inviolable dignity.
You were a woman, with many projects, with a great desire to live, with friends, with a family and life before. Above all, you were a person who wanted to start a new life and to do so, were willing to redeem yourself firmly.
You can not die so young. And then, just so, like you're dead.
We do not know who made you such a horrible end. Anyway, the indifference and cruelty of those that have used you for their indecent comfortable, killed you once again, not thinking that you were a human being deserving absolute respect, whether they are the criminals who supply the trafficking of human beings, or they are customers that have been taking advantage from your condition of vulnerability and necessity.
Will never forget you ... and we will do everything to prevent that others nigerian girls like you do the tragic end like you did. Hello Joy:*
